SPECIFICATIONS

(DEPENDING ON MODEL)

FRETWIRE : STAINLESS STEEL

It produces a bright sound and has an aesthetically pleasing appearance.

STRINGS : D'ADDARIO

These strings are made with high-quality materials and are designed to provide a clear and crisp sound.

TOP : FLAME MAPLE

High-end guitars often feature flamed maple tops that are finished with a transparent or semi-transparent.

BODY : ALDER

The body is lightweight and has a beautiful grain pattern. The sound is crisp and clear, with a nice balance between the highs and lows. The guitar has a sleek, modern look.

SHIELDED AGAINST HUMMING

Shielding allows you to substantially reduce all unwanted interference turns and hum.

TREMOLO : WILKINSON FLOATING BRIDGE (2 PT.)

The Wilkinson 2-point tremolo is more stable and precise than traditional tremolo systems as it's anchored at only two points on the guitar's body.

TUNERS : VINTAGE

They were typically made of metal and had an open-gear design that allowed the player to adjust the tension of each string for precise tuning.

NUT : BONE

Bone nuts have a natural hardness and density, providing excellent resonance and clarity.

NECK : ROASTED MAPLE

The satin finish provides a smoother and more comfortable feel, especially for players who may experience hand fatigue during extended playing sessions.

FRETBOARD : MAPLE

Maple wood is baked at high temperatures during the roasting process, which changes its chemical structure and color.

PICKUP : ALNICO V

It is known for its strong magnetic field and ability to produce a warm, full-bodied tone with plenty of sustain. The magnet is named after its components: aluminum, nickel, and cobalt.

SPLIT COIL

It is a feature commonly found on electric guitars and basses that allows the player to switch between single-coil and humbucker pickup configurations.

HARDWARE : GOLD

Gold plating, commonly found on high-end guitars, adds value by enhancing the visual allure and improving the guitar's sound with better sustain and a warmer tone.
